"BONE" PULLED
AT WATER PLANT*Intended to Drain Mains and Instead
Big Reservoir Was Emptied,
Wasting Supply.*WAS A DARK AND DRY CITY*Only One of Three Wells Costing $12,000 at Present in Working Order.*All Join In The Chorus

(By Unknown..)

O, cry of Rushville, pray give us a drink.
We're dying of thirst; now
what do you think
Of a town dry of water, also
dry of beer,
No drink and no bath in the hot time of year!
Send for Mahin to stop the leak
in your main.
We're yelling for water and yelling in vain.
Don't do us up "Brown" for brown things are dry.
Give us water, good water,
pure water, we're dry.

Some one at the water and light plant pulled a "bone" last night and instead of draining the water mains
the big reservoir was drained dry. It all came about through the moving of the fire plug at the corner of Main and Second streets, from the Main street side of the street to the Second street corner. The water was shut off at ten o'clock so that the work might be done.

Supposing that the water had been turned off at the reservoir, all the fire plugs in the business part of the city were opened in order to drain them. Ordinarily it does not take long to drain the mains but last night
the water continued to flow and along about three o'clock this morning it was discovered that the reservoir was dry. With water very scarce to begin with, the people were put to an additional hardship.

The "bone" at the water and light plant cost hundreds of gallons of water and the city would have been in a bad way had there been a fire.
Instead of closing all the water gates from the reservoir leading into the mains some must have been left open as the water all drained
from the tank and it was even necessary to close down the electric light part of the plant at an early hour. The city was not only without water, but was dark also, causing much inconvenience.

Just who is at fault is not known and probably never will be. The superintendent, it is understood, personally attended to the closing of the water gates. He either did not close all of them or someone opened them after he left. The city was notified that the water would be turned off at ten o'clock and residents in the northern part of the city thought of course that there would be plenty of water this morning, but they waited in vain and some were still waiting at a late hour today while the city was busy filling the reservoir. It was necessary to turn the water off to fix the plug at the People's National Bank building, but no one ever thought that the entire supply of water would be taken in doing so.

The water was drained from the northern part of the city and it was thought strange that the water should continue to flow. The water flowed until there was no more left in the reservoir to flow and then the mistake was discovered. But it was too late and the tank had to be refilled.

OZONE THING THAT DID ITResponsible For Stimulating Twang
in the Air Today.

The weather will be fair and cool
for a few days, the Indiana weather forecaster says. Clouds, for various reasons, covered the sky all morning, but by noon the sun had pushed its way through. The temperature was several degrees lower today. The stimulating twang in the air this morning was due to the fact that there was more ozone in the air than usual, the weather man says. The inrush of cooler air where the air had been humid for several days accounts
for the rainless clouds of the morning.

MANY OF BOOKS ARE ALREADY IN USE*Rush County Schools Ahead of State
Board of School Book
Commissioners.*AWARDS ARE UNDER NEW LAW

Rush county is several years ahead of the State Board of school book commissioners as a majority of the books designated yesterday by the board have long been in use in the school of the county. The State Board awarded the contract for the uniformed text books yesterday under the new law. County Superintendent C. M. George stated today that a majority of the books contracted for by the board are already used in this county and many have been for years.

The prices of books adopted by the board average nearly 20 per cent less than the prices that have been charged for high school text books in this state. By requiring the use of the same books in all high schools the Legislature made it possible for the publishers to sell them at a substantial reduction.

Sligo County.*LOCAL MAN THERE LAST YEAR

Lieutenant George H. Gardner of the Ninth Infantry, while in the city yesterday called on Thomas Scanlan and the two had a long talk on the affairs of Sligo county, Ireland. Lieut.
Gardner is a native of Sligo county
and this is the birthplace of Mr.
Scanlan's parents and the place he visited last summer while in the old country. Mr. Scanlan and the army officer went back to old Ireland yesterday in their conversation and as the local man had been there more recently that the army officer, he related many things of interest to the native of Sligo. Lieut. Gardner was given a large bundle of newspapers from the city of Sligo that had been received by Mr. Scanlan and these he stated would occupy his time between here and Ft. Thomas. Mr. Gardner has been in this country many years.

SAY MULHALL
IS FALSIFYING*Capt. John K. Gowdy and E. B.
Thomas Issue Statements in Regard to Watson's Campaign.*FORMER NEVER MET BREWER*Both Declare Story of Negotiations
For Brewery Support is Lobbyist's Creation.

In the testimony given by Col. M.
M. Mulhall before the Senate lobby investigation committee, Washington dispatches report him as saying that he, at the request of James E. Watson held several conferences with Indiana brewers to enlist their support of him as the Republican candidate for governor in 1908; that he reported the result of such conferences to James E. Watson, John K. Gowdy
and others, all of whom upon the diplomatic manner in which he had handled negotiations with the brewers. Col. Mulhall further stated that he arranged for a meeting between Capt. Gowdy and Joseph C. Schaf in regard to this same matter and that such meeting was actually held at the Claypool hotel in Indianapolis.

Now for the facts: In a statement
this morning Capt. Gowdy said that he was the manager of Mr. Watson's campaign for the nomination for governor. After the state convention which nominated Mr. Watson, Capt.
Gowdy had no further, active relation with Mr. Watson's candidacy or with the state committee. During the campaign for the nomination Capt.
Gowdy says he did everything he could that was legitimate to bring about the success of his neighbor and friend, in whose interests and ability he had then and has now the most implicit confidence.

Capt. Gowdy declared that during the campaign for nomination as well as election he knew that the saloon men, distillers and brewers were solidly arranged against Mr. Watson. As to any attempt being made to win over the support of the brewers for the Republican state ticket, which
Mr. Mulhall says was done, Capt.
Gowdy knows nothing.

He asserted that Mulhall's statement that he arranged for a meeting between him and Joseph C. Schaf with Mr. Gowdy's knowledge and consent is a falsehood from the start to finish. Judging from the energy of Col. Mulhall, Mr. Gowdy continued, and the many things he did during that campaign, according to his statements before the committee, he might have seen Mr. Schaf and arranged for such a meeting, but he did so without the knowledge or consent of Capt. Gowdy and no such meeting was ever held.

Capt. Gowdy says that he has known Mr. Schaf for many years.
While Mr. Gowdy was American consul general at Paris, Mr. Schaf and his family came there as tourists and during their stay visited at his home.
During the campaign for nomination,
Mr. Gowdy says he frequently met Mr. Schaf in passing through the lobby of the Claypool hotel, and knowing Mr. Schaf as intimately as he had, for years, had he desired an interview, his political experience
would have suggested that he arrange for the meeting himself rather than leave it to Col. Mulhall, a practical stranger.

Ernest B. Thomas was also questioned in regard to the statement of Col. Mulhall. Mr. Thomas was confidential secretary to Mr. Watson during his campaign for the nomination and election. He says that so far as he knows the statement of Col. Mul-hall is a pure fabrication and the creation of his own brain.

WEBER HAS LONG
POLICE RECORD*Greensburg Barber Arrested Here
This Week Has Been Passing
All Sorts of Checks.*REPUTATION AT SEYMOUR*Took French Leave Sunday Night
After Failing to Pay Police Court Fine of $25.

A. E. Weber, who took sudden leave of Seymour Sunday night after failing to pay a $25 fine in the police court, is in jail at Rushville
upon a charge of beating a board
bill and passing fraudulent checks, says the Seymour Republican. Weber was so anxious to get away from this city that he did not leave his future address and no one knew where he had gone. It appears, however, that he went to Greensburg from here and tried to get some money on several bad checks which proved his undoing. He lived in this city for several months and was employed as a barber.

The Seymour National Bank has received a check from the Citizens'
National Bank at Greensburg for $184.35 which was deposited by Weber for collection. The Greensburg bank called up the local bank
over long distance telephone Wednesday and asked them if the check was good. The president of the bank was informed that Weber had no funds on deposit and had never had an account here. It appears that he told the Greensburg bank
that he had some money in the Seymour bank and left the check for deposit. It was made payable to himself. He gave several checks to Greensburg merchants it is reported.
But when the paper began to float too freely the bank officials became uneasy and started the investigation.
Ben Myers and Lon Rader, both of Greensburg, are holding two checks against Weber.

It is reported that when Weber
went to Greensburg, he made it known that he intended to take employment in a barber shop there and engaged board with Mr. Myers. He game him a check for $5 at that time. The check of Mr. Rader was also drawn for $5.

This morning the First National Bank of this city received a check drawn by Weber for $5. He has no deposits here and this check will be returned and marked "No Funds."
Weber evidently became alarmed after passing several of the checks and went to Rushville Wednesday morning. He was accompanied by Mrs.
Weber. In the meantime it had been found that the checks were worthless
and the police at Rushville were notified. He was arrested there Wednesday afternoon. Weber told the police at Rushville, after his arrest,
that he had been drinking and came to a "dry" town to sober up. Warrants were sworn out for him at Greensburg. He denied all knowledge of the guilt to the Rushville police.

Weber was arrested here several weeks ago for stealing a shot gun.
He borrowed the gun from Chester
Miller with the promise of returning it as soon as he came back from a day's hunt. He sold the gun of Gail Hopewell that evening for $10. He disappeared for several days and when he returned said that he had been in Columbus "sobering up."

Weber's trial has not been set, but he will likely be bound over to circuit court. He is held on two charges.

The rice crop of Burma is harvested from October to December.
Heavy floods in August and September, 1911, destroyed the crops in extensive areas of Lower Burma.

ASSAULT CASE DISMISSEDWillard Bennett Fails to Show up in Squire's Court.

The assault and battery case against Blain Hunt which was preferred by Willard Bennett was dismissed in Squire James Kratzer's court this afternoon for the want of prosecution. Mr. Bennett alleged that Blain Hunt struck his son Charles while the two were employed at Darnell's bakery. The case was set for trial last night, but the prosecuting witness asked that it be postponed until this afternoon at one o'clock. Neither Mr. Bennett or his son appeared by one-thirty o'clock
and the case was dismissed.

The Spiceland Academy trustees met again Thursday evening for the purpose of ascertaining how much money was yet needed for the erection of the new building. At the last meeting $12,000 had been subscribed, but the lowest bid submitted was $13,823, by Sam Foust of Newcastle.
An effort was put forth by the committee to secure the remaining amount, but at the meeting last evening there was yet considerable lack-
ing. The committee will make arrangements to raise the additional amount before the contract is let,
and it is thought they will make up
the deficit soon.

The contract will likely go to Sam
Foust of Newcastle when a sufficient fund is raised to cover his bid.

Thomas Allison, aged about fifty years, residing north of Connersville
was sent to his home via the I. & C.
Thursday from Gwynneville, the man either suffering from an attack of "sleeping sickness" or an overdose of dope. He had left Connersville with another man who was taking a string of horses to the stock yards at Indianapolis. According to the statement made to residents of Gwynneville by the man with Allison,
the latter had fallen in a stupor between Rushville and Arlington, while riding in a buggy and had fallen out, severely injuring his head. Instead of getting better the stricken man became worse and while at Gwynne-ville would fall asleep talking to residents of that place. Before he left Gwynneville, the man whose name was not learned, gave Mr. Allison money to return to Connersville and he was taken from the McIntyre store, where he had been left to the traction station by Charles Kemp, in his auto. The Connersville Examiner gave a story yesterday to the effect that the man had probably been assaulted and robbed, but they got the wrong "dope" according to statements made by responsible residents of Gwynneville concerning the affair.

Isaac Musselman was arrested
Thursday night by Night Marshal Charles Martin at Knightstown on a charge of shooting with intent to kill Donley Finley. Musselman, who is separated from his wife Lucy, went to the house where she is staying and is said to have quarreled with her.
He became angry and shot at Donley
Finley, who happened to be near.

Finley reported the matter to Marshal Martin, who tried to arrest Musselman, but Musselman started to shoot and fired his revolver four times at him. Martin returned the fire five times and after both revolvers were empty Martin arrested his man and called Sheriff Kirk at Newcastle over the telephone and asked him to come and get Musselman.
Kirk went and took Musselman to Newcastle and lodged him in jail.

It was thought by neighbors that a battle was being pulled off as ten shots were fired and not one took effect. Neighbors who heard the shots hid behind trees and in fact there was no one who wished to be in the line of bullets.

Musselman and his wife had been separated for a while and he went to see her to see if he could not induce her to live with him again.

Finley is said to have interfered and Musselman drew the revolver and started to imitate the Bulgarian army.
When Martin arrived he tried to carry out the program, but the revolver barrel was crooked and all ten shots hit the air.

Coming Out Into
the Open

It was not so many years ago that advertising was considered unethical from a business standpoint.

Many of the finest old houses held aloof, saying that they didn't have to advertise. Even today there are some business and professional men so bound by custom and tradition that they have not yet availed themselves of the advantages of advertising.

By so much as these customs still hold, by just so much
is the public deprived of knowing all about those professions and businesses.

The most successful way and the only honest way to deal with the public is to "play the game out in the open."

If there are true and interesting reasons why the public should buy something from So & So, then So & So should be glad of a chance to say so over and over again through the medium of reliable newspapers.

Clarksburg Christian Church Pastor
Hands in His Resignation.

Rev. D. J. Thornton, of Clarksburg, in Decatur county, was in Shelbyville a short time says the Shelbyville Republican. Rev. Thornton has for some time been the pastor of the Christian church at Clarksburg. He, however, has resigned at Clarksburg to accept a call to the church at Bowersville, O. He says that Bowersville has a live, wideawake church in a town of 500 people. It has for the past three months had an average attendance each Sunday morning of one hundred and ninety-two. That is a fine attendance for a church in that sized town when it is considered that there are two other churches there.

Postal Savings Bank Depositors Will

POSTMASTERS BEING ADVISED

"Banking by mail" is the latest innovation entered into by the government in connection with the postal savings system. Hereafter deposits may be made by mail and withdrawals likewise effected through the same agency.

When the postal savings system was first put in operation postmasters were forbidden to permit deposits by such persons as were not patrons of the postoffice in which they sought to bank. This was found to work a real hardship on a certain class of would-be depositors and Postmaster-General Burleson accordingly abrogated the rule. Postmasters throughout the country now are being advised of the change.

DEPUTIES TALK OF YEAR'S PLANS

Fish and Game Commissioners of Southern District Hold Annual Meeting at Seymour.

WANT RESULTS, NOT ARRESTS

Decide That Educational Campaign For Law Enforcement is Better Than Many Fines.

That it is better to conduct an educational campaign for the enforcement of the fish and game laws rather than make a large number of arrests, was decided by the deputy fish and game commissioner of the southern district at their annual meeting held at the Commercial Hotel in this city, says the Seymour Republican. The session was called by Jacob Sottong of Brookville, captain of this district composed of seven congressional districts. Each year the commissioners meet for the purpose of discussing the fish and game laws in general and this year it was decided to hold the meeting in Seymour.

Each district was represented by two commissioners with one exception, the seventh. Those present were Fred Ehlers and C. Dixon of the fourth; B. F. Kelley and Thomas and J. Cannon of the third; James Parson and I. Mock of the first; J. Butler of the fifth; Dennis Leason Amos and Peter Graley of the sixth; William Lamphere of the seventh; and Victor Cassidy and John Simmons of the second. The deputies manifested much interest in the meeting and it is believed that good results will be seen from the conference.

The commissioners were in favor of conducting an educational campaign for the enforcement of the fish and game laws. They were of the opinion that if the public realized the need of giving the fish and game proper protection they would assist in enforcing the law. Arrests should be made, it was decided, only when hunters persisted in violating the law, and proof was presented to show that the violations had been committed with knowledge of the regulations adopted by the legislature.

Special attention is to be given to the license law which requires that each hunter shall have a license before he is entitled to hunt, except on his own land. The licenses may be procured from the county clerk, but some inconvenience is experienced by persons living outside the county seat in purchasing them. Often times they neglect to file their applications until a short time before they go hunting and this cause them some inconvenience. In order to obviate this trouble, the commissioners have decided to place the blanks on file at a number of business houses in town outside the county seat so that the licenses may be secured without the necessity of going to the court house.

The commissioners from the various districts reported that the work had advanced during the past year and that the conditions are in far better shape than ever before. They were unanimously of the opinion that the fish and game department is doing a good work and with the assistance of the public better results will be noticed.

Deputies Ehlers and Dixon of this district, are seizing the bayous and isolated streams for minnows and reported that thousands of bass and other game fish had been removed to the main river. They are working in this country at the present time and desire the names of all bayous which may go dry before the close of the summer. They started the work at Rockford this afternoon and will spend a week or ten days here. They expect to save fifty thousand mail bass in this manner. The bayous in southern Indiana will be seeded by the deputy commissioners this summer.

There are four thousand employees in the government printing office.

STRIKE INEVITABLE SAY THE TRAINMEN

Unless Managers Alter Their Present Views.

New York, July 19.—By a very slender thread hangs the chance of staving off the long threatened strike of the 100,000 trainmen and conductors on the eastern railroads. William Lea Chambers, the newly appointed commissioner of mediation and conciliation appointed under the Newlands amendment to the Erdman act, is expected in this city today with Judge Martin A. Knapp and W. W. Hanger, assistant, to try to bring about a settlement by mediation. If the mediators cannot reconcile the representatives of the trainmen and conductors and the managers' committee as to the inclusion in the specification of propositions to be arbitrated under the Newlands amendment, the heads of the trainmen and conductors say a strike will be inevitable.

Meantime all the trainmen and conductors in eastern territory were in receipt of a bulletin from the presidents of their respective organizations notifying them that unless the roads withdraw their propositions, the fixing of the hour for the strike will follow.

The strikers had hopes that the efforts of Seth Low, president of the Civic Federation, who had a conference with the managers' committee to induce the managers to withdraw their propositions, would prove successful, but the position of the managers was unchanged when the conference was over.

Governor Paroles Dr. Gray Who Murdered Woman.

HE WAS CONVICTED IN 1899

In Granting Parole Executive Points Out the Addiction to Drug and Drink Habit Under Which Prisoner Was Laboring at Time Crime Was Committed and Presents Assurances His Service in Prison Has Effected Cure.

Indianapolis, July 19.—Governor Ralston has granted a parole to Dr. E. Gray of Bloomfield, who has been serving a life sentence for the murder of his paramour.

Dr. Gray was convicted May 22, 1899. His crime was one of the most brutal in the criminal history of the state. He met the woman on the street in Bloomfield and attacked her with a surgeon's knife, stabbing her four times.

Two members of the board of pardons recommended the parole, but Chairman Thomas informed the governor he did not believe Dr. Gray should be granted clemency. The board had twice before refused to recommend his release.

In the parole order Governor Ralston points out that at the time of the crime Dr. Gray was addicted to the excessive use of intoxicating liquors and drugs. Letters and petitions from citizens and court officials of Greene county stated that Dr. Gray was thought to be mentally unbalanced and irresponsible when the crime was committed. As to this point medical experts have disagreed. Gray has been cured of the liquor and drug habit. Ten of the jurors who convicted him and the prison authorities also petitioned for his release.

Dr. Gray is now fifty-two years old. His wife, who was living at the time of the crime, has died. Before contracting the drug and liquor habits he was a physician and surgeon of ability and he has been of assistance in the prison hospital.

LEAVING MEXICO IN A PANIC OF DREAD

Americans and Other Foreigners Flee.

New York, July 19.—According to passengers who have just arrived from Vera Cruz by the Ward liner Esperanza, the exodus of Americans and other foreign residents of Mexico to zones of safety has turned into a panic flight. There were more than 100 Americans on the Esperanza, and not only the first cabin space was filled, but all the officers' quarters were occupied. Most of the passengers were women, and there were thirty children. Fathers with interests in the disturbed republic demanding their attention, came up with their families merely to protect them on the way; later they will return to Mexico.

Eben F. Greenlaw, who has a big lumber mill near El Ora, a mining town in the state of Mexico, came back with his wife and two little children. He said women and children were in great peril in the country because of the activity of revolutionists and bandits.

Zapatistas had raided haciendas in his neighborhood. All the well-to-do foreigners and many wealthy Mexicans were fleeing the country, believing that the Huerta administration was doomed and that there might be a reign of anarchy pending the establishment of another government. Rail communication to the north had been cut off and the only way out of the country was by water. The Esperanza might have taken many more passengers if she had had room for them.

Just Being Human.

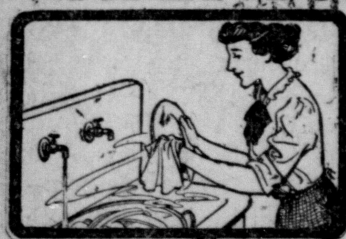

Whatever else I may be ashamed of, let me not be ashamed of being human. I may well blush for my little store of knowledge, for it might have been greater, and for my imperfect wisdom, which might have been sounder; for my sins, that might have been fewer, and for my righteousness, which is paltry enough. For excesses, lacks and want of balance I may be justly blamed, but for any genuine human feeling I have no right to hang my head. So I dare say frankly that I love to eat and to drink, I love woman and the child, I love my slippered ease and a chat with good company. I love adventure and the shining sail. I love a rousing book, a clever play and a fair fight. And whatever pride or joy is built upon the contempt of others, I hate. The best part of the heritage the twentieth century brings me is the privilege of being wholly human and not ashamed of it.—Dr. Frank Crane in Woman's World.

GOOD ROAD MADE FARMS VALUABLE

Data on the Subject is Submitted by the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

Land Values Increase More Than Enough to Make the Improvement Profitable.

The direct effect that changing bad roads into good roads has upon lands values and the general economic welfare of a community is shown in several concrete illustrations gathered by the United States department of agriculture.

The department has just issued a statement on the subject, based upon a mass of information gathered by the officers of public roads, which is making a special study of the economic effect of road improvement in the country. According to data gathered, where good roads replace bad ones, the values of farm lands bordering on the roads increase to such extent that the cost of road improvement is equalized, is not exceeded. The general land values, as well as farm values, show marked advances following the improvement of roads.

In Lee county, Virginia, a farmer owned 100 acres between Ben Hur and Jonesville, which he offered to sell for $1,800. In 1908 this road was improved, and, although the farmer fought the improvement, he has since refused $3,000 for his farm.

Along this same road a tract of 188 acres was supposed to have been sold for $6,000. The purchaser refused the contract, however, and the owner threatened to sue him. After the road improvement upon the land, the same farm was sold to the original purchaser for $9,000.

In Jackson county, Alabama, the people voted a bond issue of $250,000 for road improvement and improved 24 per cent of the roads. The census of 1900 gives the value of all farm lands in Jackson county at $4.90 per acre. The selling value at this time from $6 to $15 per acre.

The census of 1910 places the value of all farm lands in Jackson county at $9.79 per acre, and the selling price is now from $15 to $25 per acre. Actual figures of increased value following road improvement are shown.

As the roads in no way effect soil fertility or quality of the farm, advances are due essentially to the decrease in the cost of hauling produce to market or shipping point.

Farms are now regarded as plants for the business of farming, and any reduction in their profits through unnecessary heavy costs of hauling on bad roads naturally reduces their capitalization into values.

With reduced costs for hauling, profits are increased, with the result that the farm plant shows satisfactory earnings on a high capital value.

The automobile also has begun to be an important factor in increasing rural values where good roads are introduced.

Immigration is particularly marked where road conditions are favorable; in fact, the figures of the department seem to indicate that good roads indirectly increase the demand for rural property; and the price of farm land, like that of any community, is ruled by the relation between demand and supply.

MULE TEAM CAUSES HAVOC

Runs Away With Hay Rake and Hits a Buggy.

Virgil Henry had quite an unlucky runaway last week when a span of his mules, hitched to a sulky hay rake got frightened and took down the road at a terrific rate of speed, says the Milroy Press. The mules started at Monroe Gloschen's house and in going down the road struck a carriage belonging to Clarence Richey, bending one axle of it. After they hit the carriage, they ran down the road and all of the traces but one came undone and the neck-yoke came off of the tongue, letting it drop to the ground. One of the mules gave a big jump, throwing the tongue against the other mule, breaking one of its fore legs. Dr. Morris was called and dressed and set the leg in casts, but it is not known whether the mule will get well or not.

Mrs. A. J. Johnson, Who With Husband Celebrated Golden Wedding Well Known Here.

MARRIED AT KNIGHTSTOWN

Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Johnson informally celebrated their golden wedding anniversary at their home, 1308 Polk street, this city, says the Indianapolis News. They announced a reception to their friends between the hours of 3 and 5 and 8 and 10:30 p. m. They were married at Knightstown, Ind. Only one person is now living who was present at their quiet home wedding. He is the Rev. William A. Hutchison, of Point Camp, Ill., who was a brother of the officiating clergyman, the Rev. J. Finley Hutchison. Mr. Johnson is the daughter of William and Margaret Bradley Hudson. She was born in Rush county, Indiana, July 9, 1842.

Mr. Johnson was born in Beaver county, Pennsylvania, September 14, 1836. He is a lifelong teacher, having taught since 1855, beginning in the log school-house. He was superintendent of the Hendricks county schools nine years. He received his degree of A. M. from Hanover college. They are the parents of six sons. One died in infancy, and Frank O. died in 1907. Walter C., Earnest B. and Will E. live in the city, and Robert H., lives at home with his parents.

MULHALL LETTER SCORES HIMSELF

Committee Springs Boomerang On Veteran Lobbyist.

DENOUNCED LETTER PEDDLERS

An Interesting Extract From a Letter Written by Colonel Mulhall at Indianapolis in 1908, in which the Colonel Expresses His Opinion of Those Who Sell Personal Correspondence, Is Brought Out in Senate Hearing.

Washington, July 19.—"The question never has arisen in my mind even for one moment that any friend of mine would save friendly correspondence for political purposes, let alone use it. All of my correspondence with you has been a pleasure as well as an education, but I do not know of one letter of yours that I have saved after reading and answering it, so if any chairman wrote to me and asked me to turn over Dr. Crockett's letters to him for political purposes I would think that fellow was a very 'cheap skate' and was unfit to answer his letters, for it would be placing me in a position of selling out my friend, and he must rate me as a very cheap article if he thought he could get any information out of me against a friend."

The foregoing is Colonel Martin M. Mulhall's estimate of persons who sell private correspondence that political exigencies may be met thereby. The letter which contained this expression of the colonel's views is in his own handwriting, embodied in the general files of the Mulhall correspondence as delivered to the investigating committee. The quoted paragraph is a portion of a letter addressed to Dr. George Lantry Crockett of Thomaston, Me., and was dated Sept. 28, 1908, from Indianapolis.

Senator Nelson read the paragraph to the committee. Mulhall asked at the conclusion of the reading: "Do you want to interrogate me on that, Senator Nelson?"

"No," said Senator Nelson, "I don't think that will be necessary."

"Well, senator," Mulhall stated in a loud voice, "if you were working for a bunch like the National Association of Manufacturers you would find it was necessary to save your letters."

This ended the incident and the committee resumed its review of the correspondence. Colonel Mulhall grows restive under the tedium of the examination. He broke forth against the officials and attorneys of the N. A. M. He said: "It is a contemptible trick of the officers of the N. A. M. They sit and stare at me and are endeavoring to intimidate me in every way. They are trying to intimidate me here in this committee room, and they have people who are striving to intimidate me on the outside. I am Irish and a bit spirited, and I won't stand it. I appeal to this committee for protection from these men in their efforts to intimidate me."

Mulhall's letters dealt to a large extent with the mid-campaign period of the summer and early autumn of 1908. They further reviewed the campaign of James E. Watson for the governorship of Indiana, in which the National Association of Manufacturers was deeply interested.

Colonel Mulhall's promised disclosures as to the alleged attempt on the part of the N. A. M. to bribe Samuel Gompers to change sides in the fight or to play traitor to the American Federation of Labor then came. Mulhall told his story with much dramatic effect, raising his voice until it rang to the outer corridors.

Mulhall's story was that he had a meeting in New York with Messrs. VanCleave and Schwertman, who told him to call on Atherton Brownell, who had charge of the N. A. M.'s publicity bureau in New York. This was in 1907 or 1908. Mulhall called and Brownell informed him of a plan to get Gompers, saying a man named Broughton Brandenburg was then in Georgia following Gompers. He said he (Brownell) had undertaken the mission. Mulhall was not sure if it was for the purpose of the publicity bureau or for the purpose of bribery for $40,000.

"How much?" demanded Senator Nelson.

"Forty thousand dollars," replied Mulhall, "and that he was going after Gompers and a lot of others, and he was sure he would make the goal he was chasing."

Mulhall said he expressed his disapproval of it to both Brownell and VanCleave. He told the latter that he thought Mr. Brownell could never accomplish the task.

"From your statement I infer that you were not present when any bribe was offered to Mr. Gompers?" asked Senator Nelson.

"No," said Mulhall.

A Wilson Frame-up?
Recently Col. Martin M. Mulhall, discharged lobbyist, said in an interview given out to the press, in so many words, that President Wilson was behind him and that he should worry. It is intimated that he and Mr. Wilson talked the whole "expose" over before it was given to the public and it was realized that there was no "back fire" in the thing for Mr. Wilson.

The trend of events are decidedly in favor of Mr. Wilson. No one will deny that the present methods of the President to heap the blame for all past governmental difficulties on the opposition party are not to be without great results for him personally. He, if anyone, will be boosted politically. Although the Baltimore platform declared for one term in the White house, there is little doubt but that the President has his eyes on a second term and he is repairing all the fences possible with that end in view.

The purpose of the so-called lobby investigation is very plain from the most recent developments. Mulhall was being questioned concerning his activities in Indiana when suddenly Senator Reed, the irate and hot-headed examiner of the Senate committee, digressed from the subject at hand and took up the situation in New Jersey.

Mulhall, the ready letter writer, who says he has the President behind him, comes across with one of the letters he says he wrote in 1908 that condemns S. W. McClave, the Republican candidate for congress from the sixth New Jersey district. The sudden change and the trend of the investigation for those few hours Thursday can not be understood in the right light until certain revelations are made.

McClave was a candidate against William Hughes, junior senator from New Jersey now, in 1908, when the alleged help of the National Association of Manufacturers is supposed to have been given to him. Next Tuesday a special election will be held in the sixth New Jersey district to determine who shall represent it in Congress. McClave is a candidate for re-election and C. Hart is the Democratic candidate. Hart has been indorsed by the President. Naturally enough Wilson wants his candidate to win, but he is using very poor tactics to do it.

A Poor Showing.
Less than seven per cent of the members of the Progressive party in New York City thought it worth while to enroll this year, according to figures made public by the board of elections. As the signatures of 4 per cent of those who voted for governor, and then enrolled, are required to be attached to a petition nominating a candidate for office, it will not be possible for the Progressives to nominate by petition this year unless more than 50 per cent of the enrolled voters are lined up.

The total bull moose enrollment in the city is 12,373. The vote in the city for Oscar Strauss, the party's candidate for governor last year, was 194,479. The vote cast for Roosevelt was slightly less than that for Straus, 188,869.

Reports from fifty counties indicate that in the entire state the enrollment will be less than 10 per cent of the vote cast for Roosevelt. Those counties report 30,377 members of the Progressive party as enrolling. The vote for Roosevelt in the state was 390,021, and for Straus, 393,183. The low enrollment is regarded as making it practically impossible for the progressives to nominate candidates for city offices by petition.

Making Summer Acquaintances.
Your neighbor may have passed you in the street for years without a smile because you were never introduced. But on the railroad train or at the summer resort he often loosens up to men he never saw before.

There are sudden friendships, followed by equally hasty coolings at the summer resort. The woman who told you all about her love affairs, may not respond to your harmless remark about the weather the next day. Perhaps you "got in bad" by talking to the wrong people the night before.

When people really take to each other at a summer resort, their vows of friendship are ardent and binding. Their houses are to be thrown open to each other at all times. Afterwards they send other a post card with scenery colored green and pink, inscribing thereon "Well, how are you?" And that ends it. Friendship is a plant that grows through only the association of years.

The Bull Moose Newcastle Star has made the startling discovery that a majority of the doctors of Newcastle are Bull Moosers and that most of the lawyers are Republicans, and then draws the conclusion that the lawyers are remaining with the Republican party because they believe in that party they have the best opportunity to get in office. The conclusion which the Star did not draw is that there is no hope for being elected to office on a Bull Moose ticket.

LITTLE MOTHER TO PRISONERS

Maud Ballington Booth, Who Will be at Chautauqua Aug. 8, Has Best Reputation on Platform.

OF ANY WOMAN LECTURER

She Has Fire and Magnetism, Gifts of the Highest Oratorical Order.

Maud Ballington Booth, known as "the little mother of the boys in stripes," will lecture at the chautauqua Friday afternoon, August 8. She has the most enviable reputation of any woman on the Lyceum platform today.

A prominent Eastern manager has recently said of her: "Mrs. Booth is the only woman orator of the decade whom the public will turn out and pay to hear. Why? First of all, she is the ablest woman orator in America. Her cause is the most worthy. She is probably the most beloved woman in the land; certainly she is the most attractive of all women speakers. She has fire and magnetism—gifts of the highest oratorical order, sustained and animated by deep conviction, high purpose, and burning earnestness. These great essentials are of paramount importance to success on the platform. "It has often been asked. Why do you not print press notices of Mrs. Booth?" We would not know where to begin, and certainly not where to end. Her notices, and she has never had one single adverse criticism, would fill a book as large as Webster's dictionary. No other woman before the world has been so cordially received by the press, both in her lecture work and in her prison work, as has Mrs. Booth. And why print press notices? She is known and has been heard, and her beautiful voice with its message of love and good will to all men has been borne around the entire world, and she is rightly called "the most beloved woman in the land."

As an orator and a lecturer, she has received the highest praise in the finest Lyceum course in the land, and with a very few exceptions, on account of illness, has never lost a date booked by her manager. Every season the bureau refuses enough dates to fill up the next season, and our list is always larger than she can possibly fill. Mrs. Booth commands the highest price ever paid a woman lecturer in this country, and the money thus earned goes to support her two Hope Halls, homes for paroled and discharged prisoners. This is her only reason for coming before the public, and the public has been most willing to hear her and to help her cause. She has drawn the largest audiences of any lecturer in America, and therefore deserves the largest price, judged from a purely business standpoint.

The New York Chautauqua Daily says of Mrs. Maud Ballington Booth and her work:

The work of the Volunteer Prison League was presented to Chautauqua on Saturday afternoon in the Amphitheater by the founder of the league Mrs. Maud Ballington Booth. Mrs. Booth laid the foundation for the league in Sing Sing Prison in 1896, and since that time the membership in the league has grown to many thousands, and she is affectionately called "The Little Mother" by thousands of men in and out of prison throughout all the country.

The conviction in the message that she had to bring moved Mrs. Booth to a stirring speech which has won her hundreds of new friends.

What Our Neighbors Are Talking About

A UNITED PARTY.
(Petersburg Press, Progressive.)
That the progressive movement has about spent its force is tacitly admitted by all except a few papers like the Indianapolis Star, which are still engaging in heroic efforts to keep the movement alive. We believe that within the next two years nearly all the progressives will be back in the Republican party, which will resume its place as a vital force in the conduct of the nation's affairs. As has been said repeatedly in these columns, Republicans and progressives are agreed on such basic principles as the tariff and national defense. The matters on which there is disagreement are of minor importance. There is nothing whatever to keep the two parties separate in this country. The wise conduct of the last campaign by County Chairman Ireland and the equally sensible action of the Progressive leaders in the country left no sores to be healed. Each side respected the views of the other, and aside from occasional expressions from the more indiscreet in both parties, nothing was said or done that could stand in the way of cordial reunion. We believe the time for that reunion is at hand. The elections this fall will demonstrate that the Progressives can accomplish nothing fighting alone. The reforms they desire must come through the Republican party, if they are to come at all. That party always has been ready to respond to the people's needs, and while wisely conservative, has proved the best custodian of the country's prosperity. A reunited Republican party is badly needed today and we hope that Pike county will be among the first to witness the realization of this hope."

WHAT MAY HAPPEN TO ED.
(Muncie Press.)
The Anderson Herald, the progressive organ of Madison county, declares that James E. Watson is "a great big fellow and there isn't a dishonest bone in his body." The Herald declares that Watson is being made the "goat" by "the old stand-pat crowd."

The charge against Watson came first from Senator Poindexter, the one bull moose member of the United States senate, and an intimate friend of Senator Beveridge.

The purchased "confession" of the miscreant Mulhall was first published by the New York World, democratic, and the Chicago Tribune, the "Progressive" organ of the Middle West.

In Indiana the Star league papers, owned by a satellite of Senator Beveridge, have been the chief exploiters of the attacks on Watson.

If Senator Beveridge sees the Herald's tribute to Watson, Editor Toner will be made the object of a bull of excommunication issued by State Chairman Ed Lee. Mr. Watson probably has a pretty good idea of who is trying to get his goat, and the same statesman will be after what is left of Brother Toner's goat if he does not cease tossing flowers Watsonward.

Society News

The Misses Alleine Budd and Gladys Wallace of this city who are visiting friends in Newcastle are enjoying a number of social events in their honor this week. Last night a picnic was held at Shiveley's complimentary to them. Of an event Thursday evening the Newcastle Courier says:

In honor of Miss Gladys Wallace and Aileen Budd of Rushville, who are guests in the city, Miss Pauline Bradway gave a garden party Thursday evening at her home on South Fourteenth street. The decorations were unusually pretty. Japanese lanterns illuminated the rear lawn, which was also dotted with attractive cozy corners and booths, where punch was served by Misses June Smith and Edith Newby. Music and dancing furnished the entertainment of the evening and a light lunch was served at 10 o'clock.

Others present beside the honor guests were Misses Marian Gronendyke, Janet Millikan, Adah Granger, Doris Cloud, Messrs. Fred Scott, Richard Beach, Donald Sparks and Robt. Anderson of Rushville, Horace Stout, William Marsh and Irvin Morris.

Wireless Telephony In Mines.

Great interest is being aroused in colliery circles in south Yorkshire, England, by a series of experiments in wireless telephony which is being carried out at the Binnington Main colliery and which, it is hoped, will lead to easier and safer communication with the various parts of the mine.

If the system is capable of all that the inventor claims for it the results will be far-reaching, says Coal Age, as it is stated that a conversation can be carried on through 1,500 yards of solid rock. Great reliance is being observed concerning this matter, but when the experiments have reached a more advanced stage it is understood that further details will be available.

WOMAN WEARS REAL OVERALLS

Mrs. Gertrude Croxon, Sister of Mrs.
J. K. Mattox, Discards Garb of Her Sex.

HAS VISITED IN RUSHVILLE

Abandon Use of Skirts in Raising Chickens on Her Farm Near Chicago.

Mrs. Gertrude Croxon, sister of Mrs. J. K. Mattox of this city, find's men's overalls a very convenient thing to wear, especially since she is in the chicken business. Mrs. Croxon has visited here. The habits of Mrs. Croxon are so unusual that the Chicago Daily Tribune prints the following story of her:

Miss Rosa May and Mrs. Gertrude Croxon of Worth, Ill., have discarded skirts and have taken to wearing overalls. They have a pair for every day and a pair for Sunday. These, with a blue shirtwaist and a cute blue sunbonnet, they say, makes the ideal out of door costume.

Mrs. Croxon and Miss May formerly lived in Chicago, where they had to dress like other women. Miss May was a bookkeeper in a downtown office. She was getting a good salary and she had saved up some money.

One day Mrs. Croxon mentioned chickens—and it was good-by book-keeping. The two women bought a chicken farm a mile and a half south of Worth—"Woodside Chicken Farm" they call it. That was three years ago.

They were happy at the new place; the incubators turned out new chickens by the hundred; there were apple and pear and peach trees, strawberries, blackberries, everything. Only one thing spoiled the life—skirts. They always were getting in the way. You couldn't kneel down on the ground to gather up a setting of eggs without getting the skirt dirty, you couldn't chase a stray chick without falling all over yourself.

This difficulty had to be met—and the only conclusion—baggy trousers overalls. It took some nerve at the beginning, but now neither Miss May nor Mrs. Croxon would do without them.

A fringe of thick woodland hides the chicken farm and its owner from the roadside and from public view. Only when they go for their mail do they don a skirt.

Automobile parties have made a specialty of the chicken dinners served by the "Overall Women." The "pound and three-quarters" chickens with the country gravy have made the two women independent. Then there is the sale of the eggs, and they have geese and pigeons, which hungry automobilists seem to fancy. "It was hard at first," said Miss May, "and neither of us was strong on leaving Chicago, but I don't want to live anywhere else now. We get up at 4 o'clock in the morning and go to bed at dark, and we are happy and healthy, nad we are getting quite rich.

"We have been giving chicken dinners for a year. A lot of improvements have to be made, but he have plenty of time to make them. We intend to set up some tables in the woods, screened so the mosquitos can't get in, and O, there are lots of other plans we have for our place. But we couldn't have made it pay if it hadn't been for our overalls. Every woman should wear them."

"BONE" PULLED AT WATER PLANT

filled. Conditions this morning were by far the worst they have been at any time this year and the people were wondering why there should be a shortage when only last year the city spent something like $12,000 for three new wells.

But the spending of a little sum like $12,000 does not seem to worry the administration, as only one of those three new wells equipped with electric pumps and the latest improvements, is at present working. Why the other two are not running is not known unless the men at the plant are too busy with other things to worry over a little matter of this kind. The well near the iron bridge, east of the city, has been given a layoff and the one over by the river has not been in operation since the flood of last March. The one that is working is the one near the Pinnell-Tompkins factory. This is the well that is located near the old gas well and has caused more or less trouble because of the peculiar taste given the water from the escaping gas.

An effort was made by the council last Tuesday night to remedy this by ordering the street commissioner to haul several loads of clay into the depression at the gas well. So far no clay has been placed here. At the well near the iron bridge an electric light is burning in the pumping station and passers-by on the road are led to believe that the well is in operation but if one will take time to look in the two by four windows he will see that not a wheel is turning. It is the same way with the well near the river. The water from these, three wells alone, it is understood, would supply the city, but the old wells are continued to be pumped as they were in years past and it is a sure thing they will not hold out much longer.

Girl to Manage a Farm.

With a contract for $40 a month and a third interest in the profits Miss Grace Simpson, a Minneapolis girl, will undertake the management of a farm at Bethel, Minn. "How any girl can stay behind a counter for from $6 to $9 and stay in the hot cities when she can just as well get out in the country and enjoy all the good things to eat and live simply is more than I can understand," she says.

New York will manufacture and sell ice at cost to the poor this summer.

OREGON FARMERS FIGHT ARMY OF JACK RABBITS

Agriculturists of Umatilla County, Facing Ruin, Appeal to Washington.

Umatilla county, in Oregon, has been invaded by millions of jack rabbits, and the farmers in despair have appealed to Washington for aid.

Already a district of over 288 square miles has been swept clean by the destroying pests, and the jack rabbits are widening out, the main army apparently dividing into two forces, one of which is invading the lands farther north, while the other is attacking the country farther west.

The farmers of that region have been opening up a practically new country, and the loss of their grain crops leaves them facing starvation. They are financially unable to fight the animals and will have to depend upon help from outside or abandon their homesteads. Hundreds have lost their little all.

The rabbits came in hordes from the region to the west, toward the Columbia river, when the tender feed began to dry up, and the young grainfields have been a luscious find for them. They cut down the stalks of grain just below the head, leaving the stubble standing.

While there is talk of holding a big rabbit drive, it is not thought such measures would have much effect, as the jacks will soon drift back into the alfalfa fields of the irrigated sections. As soon as the grain is ripened enough to begin harvesting the destruction of the pests will be over for the season, so far as the grain farmers are concerned, because rabbits do not like dry feed.

Apparently the main hope of checking the invaders lies, in the success of inoculation with disease germs, made by State Veterinarian W. H. Lytle, who injected several subjects with bacilli of the "snuffles" or "rabbit distemper" and turned them loose to infect the great army. If the jacks are not checked the aggregate loss in eastern Oregon will be enormous.

Authorities say that only the abolition of the coyote bounty will avail in wiping out jacks in that region. They have increased by the millions of late years.

The northern species, which has taken possession of eastern Oregon, breeds only twice a year, with four to six in a litter, but the young attain full size in two months and immediately begin reproduction, so that when they get started they multiply in geometrical progression under favorable conditions such as are brought about by irrigation, agriculture and the diminution of serpents, birds and beasts of prey.

Thief "Gets Square" With Seven Boston Jurists.

A little secret of the Boston police department and the courts has just become public. Seven pairs of shoes belonging to seven judges were stolen recently by a sneak thief, who passed over hundreds of pairs of perfectly good and fashionable shoes belonging to men of good standing in the community, evidently that he might vent his spite on the "His Honor" club.

The seven members of the "His Honor" club of Pemberton square who are, moaning the loss of their easy shoes are Judges Almy, Peck, Mead, Rudd, Marvin, Turner and Wadleigh.

The shoes had been left at a shop in Exchange street to be put in order, and the police believe some sneak thief who wanted to "get square" with the judges broke into the shop and took the shoes.

OUTLINES PLAN IN A CIRCULAR

Deputy to Superintendent of Public Instruction Writes About Vocational Education

BULLETIN WILL BE ISSUED

Will Contain Tentative Program of Course to be Followed in Regular School Work.

William F. Book, deputy to Charles A. Greathouse, state superintendent of public instruction, has issued a letter to the county, city and town school superintendents of the state, and to teachers, containing additional information on the question of vocational education and its application to the Indiana schools under the 1913 vocational education law.

Mr. Book's letter, signed by himself and Mr. Greathouse is in part as follows: "As you well know, the last legislature enacted a law providing for the introduction, encouragement, maintenance and supervision of industrial, agricultural and domestic science education in the schools of this state. Two things are specially provided for by this statute:

"I. That 'elementary agriculture shall be taught in the grades in all town and township schools; elementary industrial work shall be taught in the grades in all city and town schools, and elementary domestic science shall be taught in the grades in all city, town and township schools. The state board of education shall outline a course of study for each of such grades as they may determine, which shall be followed as a minimum requirement. The board shall also outline a course of study in agriculture, domestic science and industrial work, which they may require city, town and township high schools to offer as regular courses.' The law further states that school cities, towns and townships are authorized to maintain and carry on instruction in these vocational subjects as a part of the regular course of instruction."

"This provision of the law goes into effect September 1, 1913, and means that this work must be begun next fall—in some countries and schools without special teachers and equipment. For several weeks the state board of education and the department of public instruction has been laboring with the problem of arranging a course of study for this required vocational work in the regular schools. We have been trying to decide upon the kind and amount of work that is to be attempted next year, the purpose or aim of this pre-vocational work, how it should be related to the work in the special state-aided vocational departments and schools that are to be established next year, etc.

"A bulletin containing a tentative course of study for the vocational work to be done in the regular schools, together with such helps and suggestions for teachers as may be given at this time, is in course of preparation and will be ready for distribution before the opening of school. We hope at the county institutes.

"The following points pertaining to the vocational work in the regular schools have been decided by a committee of the state board appointed for this purpose. This circular letter is sent you to convey this information and to call attention to certain problems connected with the complete organization and introduction of this vocational work in the state. We would appreciate suggestions from you on these and other points connected with the organization of this work.

"The committee decided that all country and town schools should devote at least two recitation periods a week to elementary agriculture and domestic science, the work in these subjects being limited to the seventh and eighth grades.

"2. The minimum requirements for the industrial and domestic science work in the grades of town and city schools was also set at two recitation periods per week in each of these subjects, i. e. both subjects must be offered in the seventh and eighth grades, with at least two recitation periods a week. It is expected that graded township, town and city schools will do more than this minimum. By recitation period is meant the usual time devoted to any regular subject in the program, it being the idea of the committee to leave the matter of the length of the recitation period in these subjects thus flexible so that different schools might adjust the work to their own programs.

"3. In regard to the vocational work required of city, town and township high year's work must be offered either in agriculture and domestic science or in manual training and domestic science—a year's work meaning five recitation periods a week of the length usually devoted to a regular subject in the program. It was the feeling of the committee that most high schools should plan to do more than this minimum amount of work.

"4. It was further decided that, if pupils in the high schools should elect a vocational subject, they must continue this subject a year to get credit for the work, i. e., the subject would not count toward the fifteen or sixteen units regularly required for graduation unless a full year's work was taken.

11. Another section of the law provides for the extension and enlargement of our present system of public schools, so they may provide education 'the controlling purpose of which shall be to fit for profitable employment.' According to Section 2, 'Any school city, town or township may, through its board of school trustees or school commissioners or township trustee, establish schools or departments for industrial, agricultural and domestic science education in the same manner as other schools and departments are established, and may maintain the same from the common school funds or from a special tax levy not to exceed 10 cents on each $100 of taxable property, or partly from the common school funds and partly from such tax."

Romance of a Gainsborough.

A great dealer, now dead, once told me that, sauntering into an auction room he observed the portrait of a boy in a hat, ascribed to Gainsborough. He had that power of eye which can pierce through superposed paint, and, looking deep down into that picture, he felt certain that the hat was an addition and the boy a girl. He bought the portrait for a song, to find that his dream had come true. It was a true Gainsborough, and the likeness of a beautiful girl. What had probably happened brings a drama before us. Some old Squire Western had disinherited an eloping daughter, had pulled the Gainsborough down and sent it to a country dealer for transformation. "Dash his wig and buttons" (only the oath was worse) if he would ever look on the undutiful, ungrateful baggage again. The picture had cost good money and must be kept, though bad she had proved. It should be a boy.—Walter Sichel in T. P.'s Weekly of London —"God's Interest in Our Common Life" will be the subject of the Rev. W. H. Wylie's sermon at the St. Paul M. E. church Sunday morning. Sunday school will be held as usual at 9:15.

MEXICAN GOWNS APPEAR

Those With the Bright Colors at Waistline Worn Here.

Mexican gowns have put in their appearance here and are giving the critics of women's wearing apparel something to discuss. The Mexican feature consists for the most part, in a broad, beltlike band of some bright color, which goes over the back, around the hips and hangs from a loose knot at one side. The belts are worn with light colored gowns and can be seen farther than the rest of the costume. Those who are finding fault with these latest contraptions for the feminine sex regard the bands as a little trick to draw attention to the waistline and hips.

WOMEN'S PART IN BALKAN WAR

Neighboring Queens Exchange Telegrams.

IN THE INTEREST OF PEACE

Queen Eleonore of Bulgaria Has Appealed to Queen Elizabeth of Roumania, to Check the Advance of the Roumanian Army Upon Bulgarian Capital, to Which Roumanian Queen Made Gentle and Diplomatic Answer.

London, July 19.—One very interesting happening of the war is the telegraphic appeal of Queen Eleonore of Bulgaria to Queen Elizabeth, "Carmen Sylva," of Roumania, asking that the advance of the Roumanian troops into Bulgaria be stopped. To this Queen Elizabeth replied that the Roumanian soldiers would continue to advance, "but with the greatest consideration."

Telegrams from Salonika say the Roumanian, Greek and Servian armies will march on Sofia and dictate terms of peace at the Bulgarian capital. On the other hand a Bucharest dispatch states that although the Roumanian army continues to advance on Sofia, the Roumanian government has not yet definitely decided to occupy the Bulgarian capital.

The Daily Express says that King Charles of Roumania has answered the message of King Ferdinand of Bulgaria, in reference to the basis on which he is prepared to restore relations of friendship between the two countries. Although the reply is not published, it is understood that its tenor is that it is necessary in making peace with Roumania, also to make peace with Servia and Greece, and that the Roumanian monarch is carrying on negotiations toward this end.

According to a Servian official report the main Bulgarian army is now massed between Kustendil and Dubnitza, and about forty miles south of Sofia, and here the Bulgarians will make their last stand if the allies attempt to march on the capital. It is said, however, that the Bulgarians are wholly unprepared to resist any attempted invasion of Sofia, and should the Roumanians push on they could enter at any time.

The charges in regard to massacres and outrages of various kinds are repeated from both Bulgarian and Greek and Servian sources.

The Greeks are hurrying to the town of Xanthi, in Macedonia, to protect the inhabitants from a massacre which has been threatened by the Bulgarians who are retreating from Drama to Xanthi. An official Greek statement charges that the Bulgarians destroyed the city of Serras and massacred many people. The ruins are said to be filled with mutilated bodies of aged men and women as well as children.

ESTIMATE OF THE SENATE

Some Figures Relating to the Amendment Revenue Bill.

Washington, July 19.—The senate finance committee majority has made its formal report in support of the Underwood-Simmons tariff bill. The report asserts that the bill as amended decreases the average ad valorem rate on all imports 27.64 per cent below the rates of the Aldrich bill and 4.27 below the rates of the house bill. The report says the house bill freelist imports valued at $100,000,000 and that the senate has increased the amount by amendment to $147,367,000. The committee admits that there has been a reduction of the probable revenues under the bill as amended of nearly $10,000,000.

The average ad valorem rate of duty levied on imports for 1912 under the Payne-Aldrich bill is said to have been 35.86 per cent. The authors of the bill as it came from the senate committee say that if the senate amendments are preserved it will be reduced to 26.67 per cent. The assertion is made that the revenues collected under the bill for the first year ending June 30, 1914, will be $2,020,000 in excess of the disbursements.

Alleged Murderer Dying.

Evansville, Ind., July 19.—William Springer, who shot and killed Mrs. Anna Gray, with whom he had been keeping company for several months, was bound over to the grand jury, bail not being allowed. Medical experts who have examined Springer say he is in the last stages of tuberculosis and that he will not live more than two weeks.

Wreck I. W. W. Headquarters.

Seattle, July 19.—Men-of-war men on shore leave in the harbor here last night wrecked the headquarters of the Industrial Workers of the World, tore down the red flag there displayed and nailed a United States flag in its place.

Tabled Without Debate.

Washington, July 19.—On motion of Senator Kern the senate, without debate, tabled Senator Bristow's resolution, aimed at Secretary Bryan's proposed six weeks' lecture tour by a vote of 41 to 29.

Young Girl Drowned.

Gary, Ind., July 19.—Ethel Horner, sixteen years old, was drowned at the beach here. Ralph Ryan, who tried to rescue her, was taken from the water unconscious.

KEEPING LEGISLATURE ALIVE OUT OF SPITE

Anything to Circumvent Sulzer Is the Program.

Albany, N. Y., July 19.—That he has the legislature on his hands, Governor Sulzer is beginning to realize. He had expected the legislators would clean up their work this week and go home, but the Democratic state leaders have determined to keep the present legislative session alive practically the remainder of the year, so as to be in a position to meet any move which Governor Sulzer may make in his determination to eliminate Charles F. Murphy. Governor Sulzer now practically has only commenced the fight against Murphy from the patronage standpoint. Where positions are not open because they are filled by friends of Charles F. Murphy or upstate Democratic leaders friendly to Mr. Murphy, Mr. Sulzer is determined to eliminate them as rapidly as possible, and during the past two weeks he has placed his own political adherents into as many as a score of state jobs paying from $3,000 to $5,000 each.

Governor Sulzer's political advisers have urged him to remove all appointive heads of state departments controlled by Charles F. Murphy and his upstate leaders, and it was the governor's intention to follow this advice as soon as the legislature adjourned. If the governor should remove an appointive state official while the legislature is not in session, he can appoint his successor. If he removed such an official while the senate was in session he would have to send the name of a new man to the senate for confirmation. This is the reason why the Democratic legislative leaders insist that the legislature should not adjourn finally until the end of the year, but stand in recess from time to time. Such a course also would leave Mr. Murphy and the Democratic legislature in a position at all times to meet Governor Sulzer's political moves and to act if the Frawley committee unearthed sufficient evidence to warrant impeachment proceedings against the governor.

The senate and assembly meet from day to day for the purpose of making it a legislative day, and then adjourn until the next day.

NO CHANGE IN SITUATION

Administration Simply Marking Time in Mexican Affair.

Washington, July 19.—Ambassador Wilson has notified the state department that he sailed from Vera Cruz Thursday afternoon, and it is expected that he will be in Washington by the middle or latter part of next week to present a report on the Mexican situation. Meantime the attitude of the United States regarding the Mexican situation will continue as it has been. The president has no intention of making the slightest change in the course of the administration on this subject.

Boy Swimmer Drowns.

Sullivan, Ind., July 19.—Harold Hammond, aged fourteen, son of Omer Hammond, postoffice clerk, was drowned in the Klondike mine pond, near this city.

WATSON PASSES LIE TO MULHALL

Says Story That he Negotiated For Support of Brewers in 1908 is Absolute Falsehood.

WONDERS AT TREND OF PROBE

Can't See Why This Angle Should be Opened Unless Motives Are Personal.

Former Representative Watson of this city last night gave a statement in Washington denying the charge made by Informer Mulhall yesterday that when he was running for Governor on the Republican ticket in 1908 he negotiated for the support of the brewers while professing to sympathize with the aims of the temperance people. Said Watson:

"Mulhall's statement in regard to his visit to and conference with the brewers of Indiana is an absolute falsification, so far as my knowledge extends. If Mulhall ever saw any brewer or brewers in my interest or behalf he did it without my knowledge or consent. From the time of the adoption of the local-option plank in the Republican State platform in 1908 the issue was clear, distinct, well-defined and unchangeable. There was nothing possible but war to the end and, so far as I am concerning, no quarter was given and none asked.

"The brewers fought me from start to finish as they doubtless felt they had a right to do, and it was a fight I never blamed them for making, as they felt it was a struggle for their existence as far as Indiana was concerned, and if any peace proposals were ever made and any compromise propositions ever offered it was wholly without my knowledge and consent. I never had a conversation with Senator Hemenway along that line, nor did I ever talk to any brewer or distiller on the subject.

"This investigation now going on in Washington," the statement continues, "is for the purpose of determining whether or not an insidious lobby is maintained at the National Capital, and, so far as casting light on the object of these proceedings is concerned, it cannot possibly matter whether the brewers did, or did not, aid me in Indiana in my campaign made five years ago.

"I therefore deeply resent a charge of this character, first, because it is absolutely false; secondly, because it has no bearing on the case, and, thirdly, because the manifest purpose must be to besmirch me personally and on the unsupported testimony of a self-confessed liar. The charges are all made by Mulhall in letters written by him and in alleged conversations that he gives, and not upon the testimony of any individuals.

"I am waiting to tell my story, and I have no desire to break into public print before I take the witness chair, but I do not intend that any such statement as this shall go out without my most insistent and emphatic denial. The campaign of 1908 has been over for five years, and what earthly good can be accomplished by rehashing it now is beyond my power to perceive. I have no bitterness in my heart toward anybody growing out of that campaign, but, on the other hand, I do not intend, without a vigorous protest, to be besmirched by the tar brush wielded for the sole purpose of injuring me and destroying my personal standing in Indiana."

NINTH INFANTRY FINALLY WON GAME

Defeated Scrub Team Yesterday Afternoon by 8 to 6 Score—

Two Home Runs.

CONTEST WENT 7 INNINGS

The soldier base ball team finally won a game in this city after two defeats. A pick-up team composed mostly of players from the Sunday school league offered the Ninth Infantry team a game and the battle was on. The lacols put up a much better game than was expected and in a seven inning game the soldiers defeated them by a score of 8 to 6. The game was so much play for the soldiers. Two home runs over the willows in left field featured the game. The heavy hitting soldiers knocked the ball over the lot but with men on bases a Rushville fielder was usually there and two fast double plays cut down the score. The score by innings follows:

Rushville— 3-0-0-0-0-0-3-6
Soldiers— 1-1-0-4-0-1-1-8
Batteries—Rogers, Conde and Oneil; Speary, Ungry and Maginske and Ungry.

GOING BACK TO LEAGUE.

Umpire Harry Arnold of the Central league, who has been visiting in this city will leave tonight for Chicago and will report for duty Monday at Ft. Wayne. Arnold received word today from President Heilbronner that he had been suspended until he once more showed up ready to work. Arnold says that in this way the league officials get out of paying him for the time he is off duty. Arnold would liked to have gotten a chance to umpire in tomorrow's game here but the local management could not give him a place.

Photographers now receive light very similar to that through the traditional studio skylight by vapor tube electric lamps filled with carbon dioxide instead of mercury vapor.

SAY MULHALL IS FALSIFYING

intimate and confidential relations existed as to campaign work among Capt. Gowdy, Mr. Thomas and Mr. Watson, Mr. Thomas states, and that at no time was there even a suggestion of an attempt being made to secure the support of the brewers and the saloon keepers. He says the position of these men was well known; that they were fighting Watson's candidacy.

It is the opinion of Capt. Gowdy and Mr. Thomas that if Col. Mulhall had any interviews with the brewers, he did so on his own initiative and never reported such interviews to either of these men. The statement of Col Mulhall that he did such work with the knowledge or consent of Capt Gowdy and Mr. Thomas is false in every particular, according to the statement of these two men.

HAVE MORE TROUBLE THAN IN 5 YEARS

Railroads Are Experiencing Considerable Difficulty Because of Great Number of Fires.

CHANCE TO MAKE A FORTUNE

Not for five years or more have the railroad companies in this section of the state had as much trouble with fire as they have had this year. The claim departments are kept on the jump as a new fire breaks out somewhere nearly every day. The wheat fields and the meadows are as dry as if they had never had any rain and when a big freight engine gets strangled and coughs up a bunch of sparks there is very likely to be work for the claim department the next day.

There is a fortune waiting for the man who can invent a spark arrester for locomotives that will not kill the draft. All locomotives now have a fine screen in the smoke stacks, but under a forced draft these screens burn out in a hurry and the burning cinders fly into the fields. A screen of sufficient weight to stop the sparks kills the draft and cuts down the efficiency of the engine.

+Usual services Sunday at the First Presbyterian church. The Rev. J. B. Meacham will preach on the subject "Gospel of Good Cheer" at the morning service. There is no evening service on account of the union services. Sunday school at the regular hour.

ARCADIANS READY FOR HARD CONTEST

Shift in Line up Placing Bridgeman at First Base and Coombs at Third.

Y. M. I. TEAM SOME ATTRACTION

The Arcadians are all set for the game tomorrow with the Y. M. I. team of Cincinnati. The Rushville aggregation expects one of the hardest games of the season and is aware of the fact that the team facing them has a record of being the best out of Cincinnati. One of the largest crowds of the season is expected because of the high class attraction. The Rushville team will go into the contest to win and from the last few games the team should put up a good battle. Avery will start the game for the Arcadians and will be opposed by Conway, who has lost but one game for the Y. M. I. team this year. The game will be called at the usual hour and Kinnett will umpire. The Rushville team will line up as follows: Mattern, catch; Avery, pitch; Bridgeman, first; Cook, second; Klenk, short; W. Coombs, third; Pierce, left; Jones center, and Yazel right. Jones will be placed in the outfield because of the added hitting strength given the team with him in the line up.
